EUROPEAN UNION'S POPs DECLARATION CERTIFICATE FOR TI EDUCATION TECHNOLOGY (ET) PRODUCTS and/or its packaging

The Regulation (EC) No 2019/1021 of the European Parliament and of the Council on persistent organic pollutants entered force on June 20, 2019, and is applicable in all 27 EU member states as well as European Economic Area (EEA: European Economic Area) countries Iceland, Liechtenstein, and Norway.

Texas Instruments supports the overall POPs objective of improving the protection of human health and the environment and meets all applicable POPs requirements. Texas Instruments is strongly committed to working with customers and supply chain to define and implement POPs requirements and ensure a smooth transition to compliance.

Texas Instruments products and/or its packaging do not contain substances subject to the Stockholm Convention on Persistent Organic Pollutants, hereinafter 'the Convention', or the Protocol to the 1979 Convention on Long-Range Transboundary Air Pollution on Persistent Organic Pollutants, hereinafter 'the Protocol', by minimizing, with a view to eliminating where feasible as soon as possible, releases of such substances, and by establishing provisions regarding waste consisting of, containing or contaminated by any of those substances.

Important Information and Disclaimer: TI bases its material content knowledge on information provided by third parties and has taken and continues to take reasonable steps to provide representative and accurate information, but may not have conducted destructive testing or chemical analysis on incoming materials and chemicals. Unless otherwise provided by written agreement signed by the parties, TI's standard warranty and limitation of liability terms provided inside each product package applies to the representations provided herein.
